INTRODUCTION

Today, the urgent task of our Motherland remains to educate the younger generation in the spirit of patriotism, pride in their state, respect for their national traditions.

“Patriotism is love for the fatherland, for the native land, for one's cultural environment. With these natural foundations of patriotism as a natural feeling, its moral significance as a duty and virtue in every child is combined. At present, society is particularly concerned about the problem of educating young people in the spirit of patriotism, and the presence of this problem has led to an intensive search for ways to solve it. Evidence of this is that the state pays serious attention to the formation of patriotism among students; which is reflected in a number of norms and legislative systems of our state.

Patriotic education is a multifaceted, systematic, purposeful and coordinated activity of state bodies, public associations and organizations to form young people with a high patriotic consciousness, an exalted sense of loyalty to their Fatherland, readiness to fulfill civic duty, and the most important constitutional duties to protect the interests of the Motherland. It is impossible to imagine the process of patriotic education without studying the native land. Excursions to various museums of the region, tourist trips and hikes, studying the history of the Motherland and native land, folklore heritage, the richness of nature - all this is very interesting for an inquisitive child's mind, and also allows students to understand from an early age that their Motherland is the best place on earth, that you can be truly proud that you were born here. This year, we organized many excursions around the city of Samarkand with a group of 210. Finally, another interesting type of event is a variety of competitions. For example, it can be a competition of readers, a competition of patriotic songs, an essay competition dedicated to the exploits of the defenders of the Fatherland or a drawing competition - there are almost always children who want to show their talents in such events ... events. In addition to the general intellectual development of students, broadening their horizons and obtaining basic knowledge from various branches of science, lyceums traditionally pay no less attention to issues of their social, civic and spiritual development. This is extremely important, because the concepts of the dignity of the individual and the feeling of love for one's Motherland, the awareness of its greatness and power, are invariably interconnected. In addition, those children who have received a worthy patriotic education, already being adults, understand that the future fate of their native state depends on them .... The expediency of patriotic education in schools now does not cause any doubts, because patriotism is not limited to blind love for his state is a whole complex of positive human qualities, which in the future will help to achieve certain heights in the path he has chosen and become a truly worthy person and citizen. It is in schools and lyceums that the foundation is laid for social activity, which is aimed at serving the interests of the Motherland. Here, children realize the importance of honest work, learn to perceive it as the main key to achieving success in life....

Today, the main goal of the Lyceum, in the field of patriotic education of students, is the qualitative development of the education system, which ensures the formation of a diversified, morally and socially mature, creative personality of the student.
