INTRODUCTION

Rapidly developing in all areas of development due to national independence science and technology that meets the requirements of the world templates of the younger generation in our country aware of his innovations, able to think independently, boldly enter life, an entrepreneur is considered to be one of the urgent tasks of maturing, spiritually competent. Today in our country, young people under the age of 18 are about 45 of the population percentage. It is worth noting separately that at this age a person's consciousness, morality, spiritual the image is formed. Therefore, the attention to such young people in our country is strengthened. The age of youth consists of 23-28 years, one of the peculiarities of this period active participation as a person who has matured in all aspects of social life and it consists in the implementation of labor activity in production.

RESEARCH METHOD AND METHODOLOGY

The worldview, behavior and formation of youth as a perfect person, influence in this from the important social psychological factors that make up the social environment and information in this society is an increase in the demand and need for communicative technologies. Day after day in the age of developing information, it is necessary to avoid the use of modern techniques or not to address them, there is no way. Because in the formation of a worldview, in the further expansion of the spiritual world, computer technology in particular plays the role of the main tool. This is a joyful situation on the one hand. Today we young people are so big taking advantage of the opportunities as much as you want, it is much more productive than our time during study or work we are using. But-in the age of Science Technology, which is rising rapidly, the internet and in addition to the positive aspects of social networks, its youth spirituality, we also witness the negative impact on the mind, worldview, thirsty for news. But better to them let's pay attention to the internet cafes, where bright young people go there, all sorts of destructive ideas witness that he is watching games in his soul, that he is wasting his time we are. The saddest thing is that indifferent parents sit on the Internet of my child and gain knowledge think. In this sense, saving our lives from various spiritual threats, the path to spiritual emptiness not to put, to protect our young people from negative factors that affect their worldview, behavior for, above all, the sharp intelligence that is taking place on the world arena through healthy ideas and we must be able to compete in a talent competition. Who will enter such a competition not only the knowledge of the individual, but also the fact that his moral views are formed at a high level must. "the dignity of a person is his property or as measured not by social origin, but by spiritual appearance, moral qualities, he said. The social environment is the one in which a person operates on the basis of specific goals and plans it is his world. The social behavior of the individual is influenced by various external forces: political, ideological, economic, spiritual, moral, etc. These influences are essentially members of society it defines some particular areas of interaction between individuals gives. Thus, the individual is influenced by a system of different social relations and many social institutions (family, neighborhood, study areas, labor collectives, informal organizations, religion, art, culture, etc.) will be associated with. For example, various ideas, thoughts in a person and ideology is formed under the influence of the system of ideological relations, they are directly related to the family, kindergarten, it is instilled in the mind through school, other educational and educational institutions. If this effect his rising at the level of his faith, and in it again-the emergence of new thoughts and ideas, in the process of individual development, if it leads to its growth, it chooses such an area of activity as its own go to develop skills, qualifications and skills, either as an educator, or as an intellectual a doctor, or scientist, explorer, engineer, serves his land. Economic relationships also play a large role in the formation of the personality mind and its human characteristics. Psychologists ' information shows that one of the important motivations for behavior is belief is. Some sources give it this definition: belief refers to an individual's own views, important motives that encourage decision-making in a manner consistent with their principles, worldview system. In other words, of the needs manifested in the form of beliefs the content is the knowledge of nature, the surrounding world of all around and their specific style means understanding. If this knowledge is regulated from a philosophical, aesthetic, natural-scientific point of view and when an internally organized system is established, it is interpreted to fate as the worldview of the individual purposeful.

RESEARCH RESULT AND DISCUSSION

Worldview-knowledge, imagination and transformation into an organized, holistic conscious system being a set of ideas, it is a person in a certain mold, in a way that has its own personal image encourages to occupy a worthy place in society. Socialization in the spiritual formation of youth the role of Resorts is great. Among these, the role of family and neighborhood in our conditions is unique. The elements of early social experience and social behavior in a person are precisely in the family, family the relationship system I calculated. That is why in our people "in the bird's nest seen " is a proverb. That is, the initial molds of personality qualities are obtained in the family and this mold becomes polished and refined under the influence of other groups in society. Our, in addition to the family, the neighborhood is an important educator in our Uzbek environment - plays a socializing role. Three important to the maturation of young men and women in their youth psychological mechanism, that is, environment, Work Team, Family microenvironment and informal acquaintances effect. For example, the psychological climate in the labor community, the world of spirituality, instability, social awareness, social values, certain traditions and habits of a new member it can generate a positive or negative change in character.

Pedagogical factors affecting the formation of the reader's worldview include: family environment: upbringing in the student's family, relationships with parents and other close relatives, their values and beliefs have a huge impact on the child's worldview. School environment: the pedagogical system of the school, the qualifications and personality of the teachers, their teaching methods and friendly relations in the classroom play an important role in shaping the worldview of the student. Textbook and educational materials: curriculum and textbooks, the content of educational materials, their cultural and moral value form the worldview of the student. Pedagogical methods and technologies: pedagogical methods used in the educational process, interactive educational technologies and an individual approach expand and strengthen the worldview of the student. Community organizations and club activities: after-school community organizations, sports and art circles, other clubs of interest to students and activities develop the personal and social skills of the student. Cultural and moral education: visits to cultural events, theater, museum and other types of art, as well as moral education enrich the reader's worldview. Social factors: the social environment of the student, the general cultural and moral values of society, the media, the internet and social networks have a significant impact on the reader's worldview. Self-awareness and personal development: the student's process of self-awareness, personal interests and goals, and commitment to self-development are also considered important in shaping his worldview.

CONCLUSION

To educate our youth in the spirit of "New Uzbekistan - New worldview", above, psychological and pedagogical, affecting the outlook and behavior of young people protect them from factors and make them mature, perfect, cultured, mature in all aspects of imagination If the family, the neighborhood, and the school work in constant cooperation in developing as an accomplished person would be appropriate!
